	GRANT SUMMARY: This grant will support a media advocacy campaign by the National Peace Council on the merits of a joint mechanism for tsunami relief in the North and East -- not only for tsunami-affected communities in that region but for war-affected Sri Lankans islandwide. At a juncture when the politicization of tsunami recovery has begun to rival that of the peace process, this national multi-media campaign during the heat of the debate will target a broad cross-section of society -- including the most vocal opponents of the joint mechanism proposal -- through TV, radio and print media in the vernacular languages. The campaign will focus on principles that, if respected in the creation and implementation of a joint mechanism, will mitigate conflict, foster reconciliation and further development.

These trained leaders will be used as trainers and, as a combined effort, will then carry out a minimum of 6 workshops per month. The grant will also fund this series of workshops to be conducted at grassroots level, printing of a newsletter and a final conference in Colombo, which will provide an opportunity for all 505 participants to meet and have discussions in a joint forum.
